

Daniel Clauss
Chief Operations Officer

About

Daniel Clauss is Chief Operating Officer at tiko Energy Solutions AG.

Before joining tiko he was seven years as Head of Sales and Services and a member of the Executive Board at the Public Utility of the Canton Schaffhausen EKS.

Prior to this, he spent 14 years at Nokia Networks in various national and international sales and organizational roles at the investment goods division of the telecommunications company Nokia. Previously, the 59-year-old electrical engineer with an EMBA, worked in research and development roles of high-tech products in hard- and software for various companies.

At tiko, we believe that the energy revolution comes from the people, for the people, and that a better earth with only be possible if we collectively change the way we consume energy.

Our flexible and modular technology enables innovative solutions for prosumers to maximize their self-consumption, and thus their return on investment. Consumers gain insight and control over their energy consumption and increase their comfort. We put this unique knowledge at the disposal of our partners, making them leaders of the energy revolution, and helping them to gain an innovative image among their customers. tiko is a company from the ENGIE Group.

